Staff Reports: Chris reported that there are 11 EQIP applications. This is less than previous years but there are many on-going projects. One forestry project has been funded through the Act Now funding pool. This property is east of Guffey. Cathedral Ridge has reached out to apply for a forestry project in conjunction with Lions Camp just north of Woodland Park. This will abut a private property mitigation project on Lucky Lady Drive and will be a great fire buffer for the north side of town. They are completing grant requests for the Stone Ranch project from HPP, Wild Turkey Foundation, Newmont Mine, and a CPW Wetlands grant.

Greg brought us up to date on staff changes in Canon City. There has been a changeover in partner biologist and small acreage management as well as a new technician. The new CSU small acreage management is Bonface Manano who is originally from Kenya.

Kyle has been busy in Chaffee County with his large forestry projects as well a wildlife project on the Steve Storrs property. He shared his Big Horn Sheep management plan with the board and discussed a winter range study of deer and elk with habitat restoration in Lake County. CPW would like to do a trail cam study around Woodland Park to get a moose count in Teller County. CPW has started an elk study with collars to track mortality and movement. More elk were counted in 2021 than in any other year since they started counting in the early 1900s.

Garth introduced himself as our area Colorado State Conservation Board representative. They are currently getting ready for the CSCB board meeting that will take place in conjunction with the CACD board meeting at the Denver Stock Show. Maggie Hannah, of Hannah Ranches in Fountain, CO, is our CSCB board representative. TPCD will reach out to her and invite her to an upcoming board meeting. Garth told us about the $25 million dollar grant through the soil health STAR program. This money came through the NRCS. There will be new packets coming out soon for grant requests with the Conservation Innovation Grants. We should look at the STAR program webpage for more information. There is now a rubric for rangeland. CSCB will host a training at their offices in Broomfield March 15-16. They will cover hotel and food. Registration will be up soon. He encouraged the board to read the CSCB newsletter, The Scoop. Marisa will forward the last edition to the board.
